BY MJ DAY SPORTS ILLUSTRATED SWIMSUIT EDITOR

Every year, one Swimsuit decision trumps all others. What is our cover? What is the first thing people will see when they pick up the issue, the singular image that projects beauty and fantasy, that healthy bit of escapism from the dreary days of winter? We sift through tens of thousands of images, looking for the perfect pose. The perfect light. The perfect moment. The perfect story.

It sometimes feels like the debate is neverending-and it might be if we didn't have a deadline and an issue to put out. So we make a final decision, choose a cover. The process hasn't changed in 52 years.

Until this year, when-with three covers, evenly distributed across the land-everything changed.

How did we get here? I suppose it started when I realized how frequently I was thinking, often aloud, "What a strong group of women we have this year." Not only are they stunning, but they are also accomplished authors, advocates and actors. They are world champions and Olympians. They are on the pages of the most prestigious fashion magazines, and they represent some of the most powerful brands (including themselves) in the world. With five returning cover models-including Irina Shayk, who is celebrating a decade shooting with SI-this magazine has never been so rich with sexy, powerful women.

Editor's Letter WHY WE WENT WITH THREE COVERS (AND ARE DAMN PROUD OF IT)

On every single shoot, with every single model, we think about a potential cover, because all of the women we book are cover-worthy. My bosses must have grown sick of me bombarding them with texts of images with messages like "Hot enough for you?" and "Can you say, 'Cover'?" I was particularly thrilled this year because every shoot was on a heach. The freedom we felt at our secluded island destinations was amazing, and we were rewarded with incredible images. But the thing that I was most excited about was simple: the models. It always comes back to the models.

So how do you choose one? The logical answer would be, Pick the most beautiful one. But what defines beauty today? The truth is, times have changed and one size does not fit all. Our position on beauty is wellknown-healthy, curvy, vivacious and bold. It's not a size.

The three cover models-Hailey Clauson, Ronda Rousey and Ashley Grahamdemonstrate that.

Hailey is a modern take on the traditional bombshell. Learn a little about her and you appreciate her even more. Her journey hasn't been idyllic ... a meteoric rise to the top catwalks in her teens came crashing down thanks to - gasp!puberty. Yes, Mother Nature played a cruel trick on her by giving her the gift of curves. Curves for days. I'm not complaining. I doubt many of you are, either.

Ronda is a cultural phenomenon, a combination of beauty, brains, brawn and humility. She's beautiful inside and out. Genuine, generous, human. She possesses a spirit bigger than the space around herinfectious, inspiring and fiery.

Ashley is a sultry feminine masterpiece. I dare you not to stare at her. We met at a casting several years ago, and what is usually a 20-minute chat lasted an hour and a half. She was captivating, and I couldn't get enough. Ashley commands your attention in her photographs, fully confident-as every woman should beof her sexiness.

So we don't have iust one cover. because beauty doesn't take just one form. If there is one thing I realized poring over those thousands of images, it's that beauty is all around us.

A CAR WEBSITE FOR PEOPLE WHO DIDN'T KNOW THEY'D LIKE A CAR WEBSITE

It's not really a car website. It is, of course, but it's so much more than that-bigger, more expansive, extensive. It's cars and space exploration. Aviation. Travel. Photography, adventure, and politics. Food, picnics and road trips. Great photography and smart commentary. What to pack. Where to go. What to buy for your first, second and third car. The gear to get you there. The innovations and outsiders that bring the enjoyment. And, inevitably, occasionally, a scandal.

THEDRIVE.COM is brought to you by the company that already brings you FORTUNE.COM, PEOPLE.COM and TIME.COM. It's edited by the best automotive storytellers in the business. They came from the New York Times. They came from the New York Times bestseller list. They came from magazines like Maxim, Playboy, Road & Track, Car and Driver, Men's Journal, Men's Health, Rolling Stone, Esquire, Popular Mechanics, Popular Science, Fortune, Cycle World, Autoweek, Vanity Fair, Departures, GQ, Details-and more.

Turks and Caicos, a slice of heaven located a mere two hours by plane
from Miami.
There are eight
in the country,
plus dozens of uninhabited isles
and cays.

WHY DID WE GO?

The powdery sand and the shallow water that seems to extend forever.

WHAT DID WE DO?

Life on the island is laid-back, but one activity popular with visitors is horseback riding. We enlisted a mare to take part in a shoot with Hannah. The horse was so happy to be swimming that she tried to head into deeper waters, leaving Hannah, who was topless and riding without a saddle, hanging on for dear life. She survivedand gave us a memorable photo.

The Grace Bay Club on the main island of Providenciales. The hotel sits on a 1,100-foot shoreline, and every suite overlooks the sea.

WHAT DID WE EAT?

All conch, all the time. The little critters were prepared in a variety of ways, none as delicious as when they are fried as fritters. We chased them with drinks at Grace Bay's Infiniti Bar, which at 90 feet is the Caribbean's Iongest.

WHAT DID WE BRING HOME?

A locally made hot sauce that will spice up our food-and remind us of the islands. And since we were responsible for emptying so many conch shells, we packed a bunch. It helps that they make beautiful decorations.

WHAT DID WE DO?

Availed ourselves of the polo ponies, though unlike on our adventures in Turks and Caicos, the horses stayed dry. We also took a boat to nearby Catalina Island, where we browsed shops.

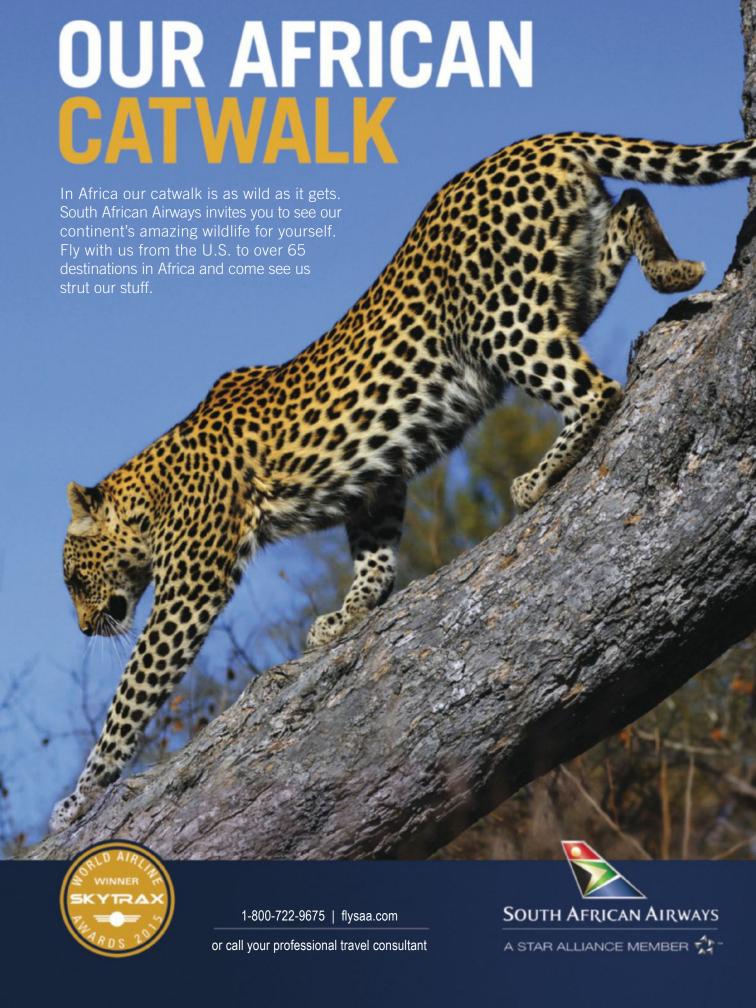

WHAT DID WE EAT?

One of the many restaurants at Casa de Campo is the Beach Club, a partnership with the family behind New York City's famed Le Cirque. Recent additions include Pubbelly Sushi (a quaint tavern that serves all manner of raw fish) and SBG. which boasts a Mediterranean fusion menu.
